2017—2018

Undergraduate Research Opportunity Program (UROP) Presentation	Leveraging Diversity in Diverse Places Presentation by Scott Page	ISR DE&I Town Hall	Bicentennial Symposium: Impact on Inequality	A Thousand Cuts: Responding to Climate Concerns
July 17, 2017 2-3:30 pm ISR-Thompson, room 6050 Any UM, Ann Arbor campus faculty, research scientists, postdoctoral fellows, librarians and academic administrators may apply to be a UROP Research Sponsor. UROP is designed to introduce first and second year students to various fields of research, partner students with a research mentor, help students develop critical thinking & problem solving skills, and to stretch the students intellectually so they will learn to think in creative innovative ways. UROP students conduct 6-12 hours of research on average, per week during the fall and winter terms. For more information, visit the UROP website at https://lsa.umich.edu/urop	October 3, 2017 2-4 pm ISR-Thompson, Room 1430 The Leonid Hurwicz Collegiate Professor of Complex Systems Political Science, and Economics at the University of Michigan and Director of the Center for the Study of Complex Systems.	October 24, 2017 10-11:30 am ISR-Thompson, room 1430	November 9, 2017 10a - 5:30p November 10, 2017 9a - 3:30p Rackham Graduate School Amphitheater The University of Michigan has long been a leader in social science research on the many dimensions of social inequality. This bicentennial symposium will highlight these contributions by focusing on the work of distinguished social scientists who were trained at the University of Michigan. An illustrious group of Michigan graduates from fields such as economics, education, political science, psychology, public policy, social work, sociology, and women’s studies will discuss past, present, and future research on issues related to gender, race, poverty, inequality, and economic mobility. Co-sponsored by ISR, Ford School, Public Health, LSA, Social Work, Education, and the Alumni Association	February 1, 2018 10 am - 12 pm ISR-Thompson, room 1430 Though many universities aspire to cultivate a climate that is welcoming to the members of their diverse student, faculty, and staff bodies, we know that the lived experiences of many in our communities don't always align with these aspirations. In this CRLT Players session, participants will think together about the many forces that shape campus climate and work toward developing or refining a skill set that will allow them to respond productively and compassionately to individuals who have negative experiences of climate at their universities. For more information, visit the CRLT website at http://crlt.umich.edu/crltplayers/thousand-cuts-responding-student-climate-concerns
